ANALYSIS

The subject property is improved with a one-story dwelling of masonry construction. The dwelling is 60 years old and contains 1,494 square feet of living area. Features of the home include a partial unfinished basement, central air conditioning, a fireplace, and a one-car garage. The subject is located in La Grange, Lyons Township, Cook County.

The appellant's appeal is based on unequal treatment in the assessment process. The appellant submitted information on four suggested comparable properties described as one or one and one-half story dwellings of masonry or frame and masonry construction. The comparable properties have the same assigned neighborhood code as the subject. The comparable dwellings are from 55 to 80 years old and contain from 1,656 to 1,776 square feet of living area. One comparable has a crawl-space foundation; one has a partial unfinished basement; and two have finished basements, either full or partial. Three comparables have a garage; two have central air conditioning; and three have a fireplace. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $33,447 to $36,736 or from $19.84 to $21.71 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment is $32,390 or $21.68 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested that the subject's improvement assessment be reduced to $30,957 or $20.72 per square foot of living area.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's final assessment of $43,324 was disclosed. The board of review presented descriptions and assessment information on four suggested comparable properties consisting of one-story dwellings of masonry construction. The comparable properties have the same assigned neighborhood code as the subject, and one of the comparables is located one-quarter mile from the subject property. The dwellings are from 54 to 56 years old and contain from 1,379 to 1,556 square feet of living area. Two comparables have full unfinished basements; one has a crawl-space foundation; and another has a slab foundation. Each comparable has a garage, and three have a fireplace. These properties have improvement assessments ranging from $32,688 to $36,560 or from $22.51 to $26.01 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Board further finds a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The appellant contends unequal treatment in the subject's improvement assessment as the basis of the appeal. Taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not met this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of eight suggested comparables. The appellant's comparables #1 and #3 were older than the subject and received reduced weight in the Board’s analysis. The appellant’s comparable #2 and the board of review’s comparables #3 and #4 differed from the subject in foundation and also received reduced weight. The Board finds that the appellant’s comparable #4 and the board of review’s comparables #1 and #2 were similar to the subject in age, size, location, design, exterior construction, and foundation. Due to their similarities to the subject, these comparables received the most weight in the Board's analysis. These comparables had improvement assessments that ranged from $35,861 to $36,637 or from $21.71 to $26.01 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment of $32,390 or $21.68 per square foot of living area falls below the range established by the best similar comparables. In light of this evidence, the Board finds the appellant has failed to establish inequity by clear and convincing evidence. Based on the evidence in the record, the Board finds the subject's improvement assessment is equitable. Therefore, a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
