ANALYSIS

The subject property consists of a parcel of land improved with a four-year old, two-story, masonry, single-family dwelling. The appellant argued that the fair market value of the subject was not accurately reflected in its assessed value as the basis of the appeal.

In support of the market value argument, the appellant submitted an appraisal undertaken by Vernon Fay Williams. The report indicates Williams is a State of Illinois certified residential appraiser. The appraiser indicated an estimated market value of $264,000 as of December 17, 2009. The appraisal report utilized the sales comparison approach to value to estimate the market value for the subject property.

In summarizing the subject property, the appraisal describes the subject's lot size as 13,160 square feet and the improvement as a two-story, masonry dwelling containing 4,550 square feet of living area. The appraisal indicates the property was personally inspected. The appraisal found the subject's highest and best use to be its present use.

Under the sales comparison approach, the appraiser analyzed the sales of three properties described as two-story, masonry or frame and masonry, single-family dwellings located within the subject's market. The properties contain between 3,780 and 4,252 square feet of living area and sold from November 2009 and December 2009 for prices ranging from $225,000 to $262,000 or $56.28 to $69.31 per square foot of living area, including land. The appraiser adjusted each of the comparables for pertinent factors. Based on the similarities and differences of the comparables when compared to the subject, the appraiser estimated a value for the subject under the sales comparison approach of $640,000.

The appellant's petition indicates the subject sold in March 2010 for $225,000 after a foreclosure. The appraisal indicates the subject is under contract for sale for $250,000 as of December 2009. The appraisal included a copy of three pages of the real estate contract showing an accepted purchase price of $250,000.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's final assessment of $35,161 was disclosed. The subject's final assessment reflects a fair market value of $348,129 when the Illinois Department of Revenue's 2010 three-year median level of assessment of 10.10% for Cook County Class 2 properties is applied.

In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review presented descriptions and assessment information on four properties suggested as comparable. The properties are described as two-story, masonry or frame and masonry, single-family dwellings. The subject is described as containing 13,103 square feet of land and a two-story, masonry dwelling containing 4,554 square feet of living area. The suggested comparables range: in age from one to three years; in size from 4,449 to 4,882 square feet of living area; and in improvement assessments from $6.56 to $7.03 per square foot of living area. Three of these properties sold from January to July 2007 for prices ranging from $615,000 to $625,000. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

In rebuttal, the appellant submitted the 2011 assessment showing the subject received a reduction.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal.

When overvaluation is claimed the appellant has the burden of proving the value of the property by a preponderance of the evidence. National City Bank of Michigan/Illinois v. Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board, 331 Ill.App.3d 1038 (3rd Dist. 2002); Winnebago County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 313 Ill.App.3d 179 (2nd Dist. 2000). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal, a recent arm’s length sale of the subject property, recent sales of comparable properties, or recent construction costs of the subject property. 86 Ill.Admin.Code 1910.65(c). Having considered the market value evidence presented, the PTAB concludes that this evidence indicates a reduction is warranted.

In determining the fair market value of the subject property, the PTAB finds the best evidence to be the appellant's appraisal. The PTAB finds the evidence shows to differing sales prices and that the appraisal supports the subject's sale was a distressed sale; therefore, the PTAB gives less weight to the sale.

The appellant's appraiser utilized sales comparison approach to value in determining the subject's market value. The PTAB finds this appraisal to be persuasive for the appraisers: has experience in appraising; personally inspected the subject property and reviewed the property's history; and used similar properties in the sales comparison approach while providing sufficient detail regarding each sale as well as adjustments that were necessary. The PTAB gives little weight to the board of review's evidence as the documentation is merely assessment or raw sales data.

Therefore, the PTAB finds the subject had a market value of $264,000 for the 2010 assessment year. Since the market value of this parcel has been established, the Illinois Department of Revenue's 2010 three-year median level of assessment of 10.10% for Cook County Class 2 properties will apply. In applying this level of assessment to the subject, the total assessed value is $26,664 while the subject's current total assessed value is above this amount. Therefore, the PTAB finds that a reduction is warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
