FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Rosalind Bladen
DOCKET NO.: 10-21335.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 10-24-116-065-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Rosalind Bladen, the appellant, by attorney Julie Realmuto, of McCarthy Duffy in Chicago; and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND:	$791
IMPR.:	$19,658
TOTAL:	$20,449

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

Statement of Jurisdiction

The appellant timely filed the appeal from a decision of the Cook County Board of Review pursuant to section 16-160 of the Property Tax Code (35 ILCS 200/16-160) challenging the assessment for the 2010 tax year. The Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal.

Findings of Fact

The subject property consists of a two-story dwelling of masonry construction with 1,090 square feet of living area. The dwelling was 53 years old. Features of the home include a full unfinished basement and central air conditioning. The property has a 1,173 square foot site and is located in Evanston, Evanston Township, Cook County. The subject is classified as a class 2-95 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The appellant contends assessment inequity as the basis of the appeal. In support of this argument the appellant submitted information on four equity comparables. The comparables are all located on the same street as the subject property.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the total assessment for the subject of $20,449. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $19,658 or $18.03 per square foot of living area. In support of its contention of the correct assessment the board of review submitted information on four equity comparables. The comparables are all located on the same street and in the same block as the subject property.

Conclusion of Law

The taxpayer contends assessment inequity as the basis of the appeal. When unequal treatment in the assessment process is the basis of the appeal, the inequity of the assessments must be proved by clear and convincing evidence. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.63(e). Proof of unequal treatment in the assessment process should consist of documentation of the assessments for the assessment year in question of not less than three comparable properties showing the similarity, proximity and lack of distinguishing characteristics of the assessment comparables to the subject property. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.65(b). The Board finds the appellant did not meet this burden of proof and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The Board finds the best evidence of assessment equity to be the four comparable properties submitted by the board of review. These comparables are identical to the subject property in design, exterior construction, size, features and age. In addition, the comparables are all located in the same block as the subject property. These comparables had improvement assessments of either $18.03 or $18.04 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment is $18.03 per square foot of living area. The appellant submitted four comparable properties located on the same street as the subject property, but in different blocks. Appellant's comparables #1, #3 and #4 are constructed over a concrete slab foundation, whereas the subject property has a full basement. In addition, these three properties do not have central air conditioning that the subject property has. Appellant's comparable #2 is considerably larger in living area square footage than the subject property. These four properties had improvement assessments ranging from $14.40 to $14.70 per square foot of living area. The Board finds the subject's higher improvement assessment is supported and justified given the differences when compared to the appellant's comparables. Based on this record the Board finds the appellant did not demonstrate with clear and convincing evidence that the subject's improvement was inequitably assessed and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not justified.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
