

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Thomas & Nancy Dadigan
DOCKET NO.: 04-23544.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 04-16-100-036-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Thomas & Nancy Dadigan, the appellants, by attorney Rusty A. Payton of the Law Offices of Rusty A. Payton, P.C., Chicago, Illinois; and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property is a 25-year old, two-story masonry dwelling containing 2,763 square feet of living area with a partial, unfinished basement, central air conditioning, a fireplace, and a two-car garage.

The appellants submitted evidence before the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process as the basis of the appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellants submitted a grid analysis detailing four suggested comparable properties. On the appellant's map, the comparables are located approximately one-half to three-quarter mile from the subject. The comparables are two-story frame and masonry dwellings that are 37 to 44 years old. Three of the comparables have partial basements, and one has an unfinished basement. Each comparable has central air conditioning and a fireplace. Photographs supplied by the appellant indicate that each comparable has a two-car garage. The dwellings have living areas that contain 2,570 to 3,328 square feet, and their improvement assessments range from $12.83 to $13.35 per square foot. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $17.79 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the appellants requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's assessment was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review offered property characteristic sheets and a spreadsheet detailing four suggested comparable properties. One is located in the same tax block as the subject, and the other three are located in close proximity of the subject. The comparables are two-story frame and masonry dwellings that are 19 to 36 years old. Three comparables have partial, unfinished basements, and one has a full, finished basement. Each comparable has central air conditioning, a fireplace, and a two-car garage. The dwellings have living areas that contain 2,003 to 2,933 square feet, and improvement assessments ranging from $17.63 to $19.81 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted. The appellants' argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellants have not overcome this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of eight equity comparables. The appellants' comparables differed significantly in age and location from the subject, and comparable three also differed in size. As a result, the appellants' comparables received reduced weight in the Board's analysis. The board of review's comparables three and four differed in size and age and also received reduced weight. The board of review's comparables one and two were the most similar to the subject in location, age, and physical characteristics. These comparables had improvement assessments of $17.63 and $17.69 per square foot that support the subject's improvement assessment of $17.79 per square foot. After considering adjustments and differences in both parties' suggested comparables when compared to the subject property, the Board finds the subject's slightly higher per square foot improvement assessment is justified by the most comparable property contained in the record, and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellants have not adequately demonstrated that the subject dwelling was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence, and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board are subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
