

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Scott Paseltnier
DOCKET NO.: 04-25761.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 05-29-424-016-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Scott Paseltnier, the appellant, by attorney Rusty A. Payton of the Law Offices of Rusty A. Payton, P.C., Chicago, Illinois; and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property is a 42-year old, two-story frame and masonry dwelling containing 3,013 square feet of living area with a full, finished basement, central air conditioning, a fireplace, and a two-car garage.

The appellant submitted evidence before the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process as the basis of the appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted a grid analysis detailing four suggested comparable properties. Seven comparables were plotted on the appellant's map, but only four were included on the grid analysis. One of the four comparables listed on the grid analysis is located near the subject, and the other three are located approximately one-half to three-quarter mile from the subject. The comparables are two-story frame and masonry or frame dwellings that are 36 to 55 years old. Each comparable has a partial basement and a fireplace, and three comparables have central air conditioning. The dwellings have living areas that contain 2,287 to 3,541 square feet, and their improvement assessments range from $12.94 to $15.05 per square foot. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $22.39 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's assessment was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review offered property characteristic sheets and a spreadsheet detailing three suggested comparable properties. One of the comparables is located in the same tax block as the subject, and the other two are located near the subject. The comparables are two-story frame and masonry dwellings that are four to 50 years old. Two comparables have full, unfinished basements, and one has a full, finished basement. Each comparable has a two-car garage, central air conditioning, and one or two fireplaces. The dwellings have living areas that contain 2,745 to 3,344 square feet, and improvement assessments ranging from $22.95 to $37.56 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted. The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

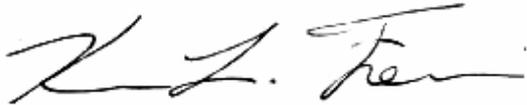

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of seven equity comparables. The appellant's comparables one, two, and three differed significantly from the subject in location, and comparables one and four differed substantially in size from the subject. As a result, the appellant's comparables received reduced weight in the Board's analysis. The board of review's comparable three differed significantly in age from the subject and also received reduced weight. The board of review's comparables one and two were the most similar to the subject in age, location, and physical characteristics. These comparables had improvement assessments of $22.95 and $26.32 per square foot that support the subject's improvement assessment of $22.39 per square foot. After considering adjustments and the differences in both parties' suggested comparables when compared to the subject property, the Board finds the subject's per square foot improvement assessment is supported by the most comparable properties contained in the record, and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellant has not adequately demonstrated that the subject dwelling was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence, and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
