

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Scott Buchanan
DOCKET NO.: 04-25809.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 13-25-405-014-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Scott Buchanan, the appellant, by attorney Rusty A. Payton of the Law Offices of Rusty A. Payton, P.C., Chicago, Illinois; and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property is a 10-year old, one-story masonry dwelling containing 1,150 square feet of living area with a full, finished basement, central air conditioning, and a two-car garage.

The appellant submitted evidence before the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process as the basis of the appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted a grid analysis detailing four suggested comparable properties. Seven comparables were plotted on the appellant's map, but only four were included on the grid analysis. Three of the four comparables listed on the grid analysis are located three to four blocks from the subject, and the other is located three-quarter mile from the subject. The comparables are one and one-half story frame dwellings that are 79 to 115 years old. Three comparables have unfinished basements, and one does not have a basement. The dwellings have living areas that contain 1,056 to 1,392 square feet, and their improvement assessments range from $10.57 to $11.09 per square foot. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $17.51 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's assessment was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review offered property characteristic sheets and a spreadsheet detailing three suggested comparable properties that are located two to nine

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

IMPR.:	$	20,131

blocks from the subject. The comparables are one-story masonry dwellings that are 40 to 45 years old. Each comparable has a two-car garage. Two comparables have full, unfinished basements, and one has a full, finished basement. One comparable has central air conditioning, and another has a fireplace. The dwellings have living areas that contain 1,000 to 1,025 square feet and improvement assessments ranging from $18.42 to $19.62 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted. The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of seven equity comparables. The appellant's comparables differed significantly in age, design, and exterior construction from the subject, and the board of review's comparables also differed significantly in age from the subject. As a result, none of the comparables was truly similar to the subject property in age and physical characteristics to provide clear and convincing evidence that the property was inequitably assessed. However, the Board notes that all comparables had improvement assessments ranging from $10.57 to $19.62 per square foot. The subject's $17.51 per square foot improvement assessment is within that range and appears to be supported after considering differences in physical and location attributes.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellant has not adequately demonstrated that the subject dwelling was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence, and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
