

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Alice Smith
DOCKET NO.: 04-25833.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 16-02-311-007-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Alice Smith, the appellant, by attorney Rusty A. Payton of the Law Offices of Rusty A. Payton, P.C., Chicago, Illinois; and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property is a 99-year old, two-story frame dwelling containing 2,673 square feet of living area with a full, finished basement apartment and a two and one-half car garage.

The appellant submitted evidence before the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process as the basis of the appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted a grid analysis detailing four suggested comparable properties. Five comparables were plotted on the appellant's map, but only four were included on the grid analysis. The four comparables listed on the grid analysis are located two to four blocks from the subject. The comparables are two-story or three-story masonry dwellings that are 77 to 97 years old. Photographs supplied by the appellant indicate that one of the comparables has a business on the first floor. Two comparables have partial basements; one has an unfinished basement; and one has a full basement. The dwellings have living areas that contain 1,764 to 3,936 square feet, and their improvement assessments range from $2.10 to $3.00 per square foot. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $5.06 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's assessment was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review offered property characteristic sheets and a spreadsheet detailing three

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is: suggested comparable properties that are located one to five blocks from the subject. The comparables are two-story frame dwellings that are 80 or 103 years old. Each comparable has a slab foundation and a one-car garage. The dwellings have living areas that contain 2,512 to 2,630 square feet and improvement assessments ranging from $5.02 to $5.60 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

TOTAL:	$	15,523

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted. The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of seven equity comparables. The appellant's comparables differed in exterior construction from the subject; comparables one, three, and four differed substantially in size; comparable two differed in age; and comparable three differed in building use and design. The board of review's comparables differed in foundation from the subject, and comparables one and two differed in age. As a result, none of the comparables was truly similar to the subject property in age and physical characteristics to provide clear and convincing evidence that the property was inequitably assessed. However, the Board notes that all comparables had improvement assessments ranging from $2.10 to $5.60 per square foot. The subject's $5.06 per square foot improvement assessment is within that range and appears to be supported after considering differences in physical and location attributes.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellant has not adequately demonstrated that the subject dwelling was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence, and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
