

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Aimee Reissenweber
DOCKET NO.: 06-00419.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 06-36-401-031

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Aimee Reissenweber, the appellant, by attorney Edward P. Larkin of Park Ridge, Illinois, and the Lake County Board of Review.

The subject property consists of a two-story style frame dwelling built in 1995 that contains 3,037 square feet of living area. Features of the home include central air-conditioning, one fireplace, a 503 square foot garage and a full, partially finished basement.

The appellant submitted evidence to the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process for the subject's improvement as the basis of the appeal. The appellant is not disputing the subject's land assessment. In support of this argument, the appellant submitted a brief and a grid analysis of three comparables. The comparables are described as two-story frame properties that were built in either 1996 or 1998 and contain either 2,685 or 2,711 square feet of living area. The comparables have features that include one fireplace, central air-conditioning, full unfinished basements and attached garages containing 504 square feet of building area. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $95,493 to $97,421 or from $35.22 to $36.28 per square foot of living area. The subject has an improvement assessment of $146,606 or $48.27 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's total assessment of $171,200 was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review submitted property record cards and a grid analysis of five equity comparables and three sales comparables. The equity comparables consist of two-story style frame dwellings that were built from 1994 to 2000 and range in size from 2,747 to 3,229 square feet of living area. Features of the comparables include

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Lake County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND:	$	24,594
IMPR.:	$	146,606
TOTAL:	$	171,200

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

central air-conditioning, one or two fireplaces, full or partial basements, with one having a finished basement, and attached garages with 506 or 792 square feet of building area. The properties are situated in the subject's neighborhood. The equity comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $130,600 to $162,662 or from $45.95 to $51.38 per square foot of living area.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

The Board finds the parties submitted eight equity comparables for its consideration. The Board gave no weight to the sales comparables submitted by the board of review because it does not address the appellant's equity argument. The Board finds both parties submitted equity comparables generally similar to the subject in age, size, location, exterior construction and most other amenities. The Board recognizes the basement finish of the properties used by both parties vary from the subject. The equity comparables had improvement assessments ranging from $35.22 to $51.38 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment of $48.27 per square foot of living area is within the range established by both parties' comparables. After considering the adjustments and differences in both parties' comparables when compared to the subject, the Board finds the subject's improvement assessment is supported by this record.

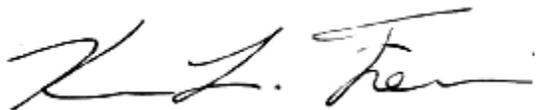

The constitutional provision for uniformity of taxation and valuation does not require mathematical equality. The requirement is satisfied if the intent is evident to adjust the burden with a reasonable degree of uniformity and if such is the effect of the statute enacted by the General Assembly establishing the method of assessing real property in its general operation. A practical uniformity, rather than an absolute one, is the test. Apex Motor Fuel Co. v. Barrett, 20 Ill.2d 395 (1960). Although the comparables presented by the parties disclosed that properties located in the same area are not assessed at identical levels, all that the constitution requires is a practical uniformity, which appears to exist on the basis of the evidence.

In conclusion, the Board finds the appellant failed to establish unequal treatment in the assessment process by clear and convincing evidence and the subject property's assessment as established by the board of review is correct.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
