

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: William G. Hart
DOCKET NO.: 04-25503.001-R-1
05-25576.001-R-1
06-25824.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 05-27-304-020

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board (hereinafter PTAB) are William G. Hart, the appellant, by attorney Lait Meisler with the law firm of Golan & Christie in Chicago and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property consists of a 14,080 square foot parcel of land improved with a 96-year old, two-story, stucco, single-family dwelling. The improvement contains 3,496 square feet of living area, four and one-half baths, two fireplaces, and a partial, unfinished basement. The appellant, via counsel, argued that there was unequal treatment in the assessment process of the improvement as the basis of this appeal.

The PTAB finds that these appeals are within the same assessment triennial, involve common issues of law and fact and a consolidation of the appeals would not prejudice the rights of the parties. Therefore, under the Official Rules of the Property Tax Appeal Board, Section 1910.78, the PTAB, without objection from the parties, consolidates the above appeals.

In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted assessment data and descriptions on a total of seven properties suggested as comparable to the subject. The data in its entirety reflects that the properties are located within the subject's neighborhood and are improved with a two-story, frame, stucco, or frame and masonry single-family dwelling with between two and one-half and three and two-half baths, one or two fireplaces, and, for two properties, air conditioning. The improvements range: in age from 64 to 100 years; in size from 2,207 to 4,924 square feet of living area; and in improvement assessments from $1.94 to $15.62 per square foot of living area. Based upon this analysis, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

The board of review submitted "Board of Review-Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's improvement assessment was $75,283, or $21.53 per square feet of living area. The board also submitted copies of the property characteristic printouts for the subject as well as a total of 10 suggested comparables located within the subject's neighborhood. The board's properties contain a two-story, stucco, single-family dwelling with between two and one-half and six baths. In addition, nine properties contain one or two fireplaces, three contain air conditioning, and two contain additional improvements on the land. The improvements range: in age from 82 to 112 years; in size from 2,733 to 3,854 square feet of living area and in improvement assessments from $21.39 to $32.96 per square foot of living area. In addition, the board submitted copies of its file from the board of review's level appeal. As a result of its analysis, the board requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

At hearing, the appellant's attorney argued that the subject property is over assessed when compared to similar properties in the subject's neighborhood. Ms. Meisler stated that two of the comparables from the 2004 assessment year were partial assessments and gave a full assessment amount using 2008 assessment figures. She argued that the board of review's comparables were not as similar to the subject as the appellant's comparables.

The board of review's representative, Lena Henderson, argued that the board's comparables are similar to the subject and assessed higher than the subject.

Ms. Henderson argued that in addition to the two comparables stated by the appellant, one other of the appellant's comparables is a partial assessment and two other are pro-rated assessments. This means that the improvement assessment figure listed on the grid is not the full assessment for that property. During the hearing she stated that she reviewed each of the appellant's suggested comparables in the board of review's computer system to determine if a property was a full, partial, or pro-rated assessment. Ms. Henderson further explained what a partial and pro-rated assessment was.

After considering the evidence and reviewing the testimony, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal.

Appellants who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill. 2d 1, 544 N.E.2d 762 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. Proof of assessment inequity should include assessment data and documentation establishing the physical, locational, and jurisdictional similarities of the suggested comparables to the subject property. Property Tax Appeal Board Rule 1910.65(b). Mathematical equality in the assessment process is not required. A practical uniformity, rather than an absolute one is the test. Apex Motor Fuel Co. v. Barrett, 20 Ill. 2d 395, 169 N.E.2d 769 (1960). Having considered the evidence presented, the PTAB concludes that the appellant has not met this burden and that a reduction is not warranted.

The parties presented assessment data on a total of 17 equity comparables. The PTAB finds the board of review's comparables #1 from 2004, #2 and #4 from 2005 and #1 and #3 from 2006 are the most similar to the subject. These five comparables contain a two-story, stucco, single-family dwelling located within the subject's neighborhood. The improvements range: in age from 96 to 112 years; in size from 3,144 to 3,854 square feet of living area; and in improvement assessments from $21.39 to $32.96 per square foot of living area. In comparison, the subject's improvement assessment of $21.53 per square foot of living area falls within the range established by these comparables. The PTAB accorded less weight to the remaining comparables due to a disparity in size, additional improvements, and/or incomplete improvement assessment information.

As a result of this analysis, the PTAB further finds that the appellant has not adequately demonstrated that the subject's improvement was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence and that a reduction is not warranted.

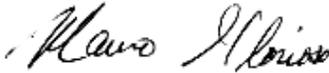

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
