

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Bahloul Salman
DOCKET NO.: 06-27473.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 24-02-314-046-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Bahloul Salman, the appellant, by attorney Lisa A. Marino of Marino & Assoc., PC in Chicago; and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $ 4,706
IMPR.: $ 26,812
TOTAL: $ 31,518

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

ANALYSIS

The subject property is improved with a two-story multi-family building of masonry construction containing 2,536 square feet of building area. The building is 50 years old, and it has three apartment units, a full basement finished with an apartment, and central air conditioning. The subject has a classification code of 2-11 under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classified Ordinance, Apartment or mixed use commercial/residential building, two to six units, 20,000 square feet or less, over 62 years of age. The subject is located in Evergreen Park, Worth Township, Cook County.

The appellant contends both assessment inequity and overvaluation as the bases of the appeal. In support of the assessment inequity argument, the appellant submitted information on four comparable properties described as frame or masonry multi-family buildings. The comparables have the same classification code as the subject, and they are located from nine to thirteen blocks from the subject. The buildings range in age from 76 to 119 years old, and they contain from 2,112 to 2,910 square feet of building area. Three buildings have unfinished basements, either full or partial, and one has a full finished basement. Each comparable has a detached garage, and one building has central air conditioning. The appellant did not disclose the number of stories and the number of apartment units in each building, but the photographs depict three two-story structures and a one-story building. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $17,144 to $23,864 or from $8.09 to $8.97 per square foot of building area. The subject's improvement assessment is $26,812 or $10.57 per square foot of building area. In her brief, the appellant's counsel argued the average improvement assessment for the comparables was $8.55 per square foot, which should be applied to the subject's improvement resulting in a revised improvement assessment of $21,683 and a total revised assessment of $26,389.

The appellant's attorney also argued the subject's income and expenses indicates the subject should have a market value of $56,500. In support of this argument, the appellant's attorney presented the subject's income and expenses for 2003 through 2005. According to the appellant's attorney, the subject had gross income ranging from $17,000 to $17,900 and allowable expenses ranging from $7,286 to $12,136. Counsel determined the subject's stabilized net operating income was $8,119. The attorney used a 14.37% capitalization rate, which included an effective tax rate of 4.37% to arrive at an indicated market value of $56,500. In the brief, the appellant's attorney stated that, "In determining the base capitalization rate, we considered the Subject's age, location, condition, risk of collection loss/vacancy loss and likelihood of a breakdown in a major mechanical system or structural component." (Appellant's brief, p. 4.) Based on this estimate of value the attorney requested the subject's assessment be reduced to $9,040 after applying the 16% level of assessment for class 2 property as provided by the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein its final assessment of the subject totaling $31,518 was disclosed. The subject's assessment reflects a market value of approximately $311,443 or $122.81 per square foot of building area, land included, when applying the 2006 three year median level of assessment for Cook County class 2 property of 10.12%. (See 86 Ill.Admin.Code 1910.59(c)(2)). The subject has an improvement assessment of $26,812 or $10.57 per square foot of building area.

To demonstrate the subject is correctly assessed, the board of review presented descriptions and assessment information on four comparable properties consisting of two-story masonry multi-family buildings. The comparables have the same neighborhood and classification codes, and two are located in the same block as the subject. The comparables range in age from 48 to 50 years old, and they range in size from 2,365 to 2,536 square feet of living area. Each comparable has two apartment units and a two-car detached garage. Three buildings have unfinished basements, either full or partial, and one has a full finished basement. Two buildings have central air conditioning. These properties have improvement assessments ranging from $26,852 to $27,996 or from $10.59 to $11.65 per square foot of building area. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal. The Board further finds the evidence in the record does not support a reduction in the subject's assessment.

The appellant argued in part assessment inequity as the basis of the appeal. Taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessments by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data the Board finds the appellant did not demonstrate unequal treatment by clear and convincing evidence.

The record contains descriptions and assessment information on eight comparables submitted by the parties. The appellant's comparables were much older than the subject and received reduced weight in the Board's analysis. The Board finds the comparables numbered two and four by the board of review were identical to the subject in size and location. They are also very similar in age, design, and exterior construction. Although the comparables numbered one and three by the board of review were somewhat smaller than the subject, they were still very similar in age, design, and exterior construction. These comparables had improvement assessments ranging from $26,852 to $27,996 or from $10.59 to $11.65 per square foot of building area. The subject has an improvement assessment of $26,812 or $10.57 per square foot of building area, which falls below the range of assessments established by the best comparables in the record. Based on this record the Board finds a reduction in the subject's assessment based on assessment inequity is not justified.

The appellant also argued overvaluation as an alternative basis of the appeal. When market value is the basis of the appeal the value of the property must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence. National City Bank of Michigan/Illinois v. Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board, 331 Ill.App.3d 1038 (3rd Dist. 2002). The Board finds the appellant did not meet this burden of proof and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted on this basis.

The Board finds the subject's total assessment of $31,518 reflects a market value of approximately $311,443 or $122.81 per square foot of building area, land included, when applying the 2006 three year median level of assessment for Cook County class 2 property of 10.12%. (See 86 Ill.Admin.Code 1910.59(c)(2)).

The appellant's counsel formulated an overvaluation argument using the subject's actual income and expenses from 2003 through 2005. The Board finds the appellant's argument that the subject's assessment is excessive when applying an income approach based on the subject's actual income and expenses unconvincing and not supported by evidence in the record. In Springfield Marine Bank v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 44 Ill.2d 428 (1970), the court stated:

[I]t is the value of the "tract or lot of real property" which is assessed, rather than the value of the interest presently held. . . [R]ental income may of course be a relevant factor. However, it cannot be the controlling factor, particularly where it is admittedly misleading as to the fair cash value of the property involved. . . [E]arning capacity is properly regarded as the most significant element in arriving at "fair cash value".

Many factors may prevent a property owner from realizing an income from property that accurately reflects its true earning capacity; but it is the capacity for earning income, rather than the income actually derived, which reflects "fair cash value" for taxation purposes. Springfield Marine Bank v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 44 Ill.2d at 431.

Actual expenses and income can be useful when shown that they are reflective of the market. The appellant did not demonstrate through any documentation or an expert appraisal witness that the subject's actual income and expenses are reflective of the market. To demonstrate or estimate the subject's market value using an income approach, as the appellant attempted, one must establish through the use of market data the market rent, vacancy and collection losses, and expenses to arrive at a net operating income reflective of the market and the property's capacity for earning income. Further, the appellant must establish through the use of market data a capitalization rate to convert the net income into an estimate of market value. The appellant did not provide such evidence; therefore, the Property Tax Appeal Board gives this argument no weight.

The Board further finds problematical the fact that appellant's counsel developed the "income approach" rather than an expert in the field of real estate valuation. The Board finds that an attorney cannot act as both an advocate for a client and also provide unbiased, objective opinion testimony of value for that client's property. (See 86 Ill.Admin.Code 1910.70(f)).

Based on this record, the Board finds a reduction to the subject's assessment based on overvaluation is not justified.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
