

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Pamela Andrews
DOCKET NO.: 08-23783.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 05-29-316-047-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Pamela Andrews, the appellant, by attorney Adam E. Bossov, of the Law Offices of Adam E. Bossov, P.C. in Chicago, and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $ 45,144
IMPR.: $ 96,736
TOTAL: $ 141,880

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

ANALYSIS

The subject property is improved with a two-story dwelling of masonry construction. The dwelling is 43 years old and contains 3,510 square feet of living area. Features of the home include a partial unfinished basement, central air conditioning, two fireplaces, and a two-car attached garage. The subject is classified as a class 2-78 residential property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance and is located in Wilmette, New Trier Township, Cook County.

The appellant's appeal is based on unequal treatment in the assessment process. The appellant submitted information on four suggested comparable properties described as two-story dwellings of frame and masonry construction. The comparable properties have the same assigned classification and neighborhood codes as the subject. One of the comparables is located on the same block as the subject, and the other three are located either 0.6 or 0.7 mile from the subject. The comparable dwellings are either 43 or 53 years old, and they contain from 3,224 to 3,541 square feet of living area. One dwelling has a partial finished basement, and three have unfinished basements, either full or partial. Each comparable has a garage and one or two fireplaces, and three comparables have central air conditioning. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $78,097 to $83,887 or from $22.40 to $24.55 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment is $96,736 or $27.56 per square foot of living area. In the brief, the appellant's attorney requested that the subject's improvement assessment be reduced to $83,468 or $23.78 per square foot of living area. On the residential appeal form, counsel requested that the subject's improvement assessment be reduced to $60,156 or $17.14 per square foot of living area.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's final assessment of $141,880 was disclosed. The board of review presented descriptions and assessment information on four suggested comparable properties consisting of two-story dwellings of masonry construction. The comparable properties have the same assigned neighborhood and classification codes as the subject. Comparable #3 is located on the same block as the subject property, and comparables #1 and #2 are located one-quarter mile from the subject. The dwellings are from 42 to 44 years old and contain from 3,152 to 3,786 square feet of living area. Three dwellings have full finished basements, and one has a partial unfinished basement. Each comparable has central air conditioning, one or two fireplaces, and a two-car garage. These properties have improvement assessments ranging from $94,357 to $107,760 or from $27.58 to $29.94 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Board further finds a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The appellant contends unequal treatment in the subject's improvement assessment as the basis of the appeal. Taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not met this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of eight suggested comparables. The board of review's comparable #1 was somewhat smaller in size than the subject and received reduced weight in the Board's analysis. The Board finds the board of review's comparables #1 through #3 had masonry exterior construction like the subject; the board of review's comparables #2 through #4 and the appellant's comparables #1 through #3 were nearly identical in age to the subject; the board of review's comparable #3 and the appellant's comparable #3 were located in the same block as the subject; and the appellant's comparables #3 and #4 were most similar in size. As a group, these seven comparables were very similar to the subject in age, size, and location. Due to their similarities to the subject, these comparables received the most weight in the Board's analysis. These comparables had improvement assessments that ranged from $78,097 to $107,760 or from $22.40 to $29.94 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment of $96,736 or $27.56 per square foot of living area falls within the range established by the most similar comparables. After considering adjustments and the differences in both parties' comparables when compared to the subject, the Board finds the subject's improvement assessment is equitable and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The constitutional provision for uniformity of taxation and valuation does not require mathematical equality. The requirement is satisfied if the intent is evident to adjust the taxation burden with a reasonable degree of uniformity and if such is the effect of the statute enacted by the General Assembly establishing the method of assessing real property in its general operation. A practical uniformity, rather than an absolute one, is the test. Apex Motor Fuel Co. v. Barrett, 20 Ill. 2d 395 (1960). Although the comparables presented by the appellant disclosed that properties located in the same area are not assessed at identical levels, all that the constitution requires is a practical uniformity which appears to exist on the basis of the evidence. For the foregoing reasons, the Board finds that the appellant has not proven by clear and convincing evidence that the subject property is inequitably assessed. Therefore, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that the subject's assessment as established by the board of review is correct and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
