

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Nick Gutu
DOCKET NO.: 08-27353.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 16-01-419-022-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Nick Gutu, the appellant, by attorney Lisa A. Marino, of Marino & Assoc., PC in Chicago; and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $ 7,874
IMPR.: $ 61,089
TOTAL: $ 68,963

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

ANALYSIS

The subject property consists of a 3,125 square foot parcel improved with a 103-year-old, three-story, multi-family dwelling of masonry construction containing 7,038 square feet of living area with six full bathrooms and a full-unfinished basement. The subject is located in West Chicago Township, Cook County.

The appellant, through counsel, raised two arguments: first, that there was unequal treatment in the assessment process of the improvement; and second, that the fair market value of the subject is not accurately reflected in its assessed value as the bases for this appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted assessment data and descriptive information on four properties suggested as comparable to the subject. Based on the appellant's documents, the four suggested comparables consist of multi-story, multi-family dwellings of masonry or frame construction located within 18 blocks of the subject. The improvements range in size from 5,562 to 9,756 square feet of living area and range in age from 100 to 128 years old. The comparables contain from three to six full bathrooms. Three comparables have a full-finished or unfinished basement and three comparable have a one-car or multi-car garage. The improvement assessments range from $4.59 to $7.10 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

As to the market value argument, the appellant's attorney prepared and submitted an "income approach", using the subject's actual income and expenses. In support of the request for relief due to the subject's diminished income, the appellant provided several affidavits as well as the subject's income and expense history for tax years 2006, 2007 and 2008. The appellant's evidence disclosed that the subject property's gross income less expenses produced a stabilized net operating income of $33,194. Applying a capitalization rate of 12.30% produced a market value of $269,870 for the subject. A factor of 16%, which represents the Cook County Real Property Classification Ordinance level of assessment for Class 2 property, was applied to determine a requested total assessment of $43,179 for the subject.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the subject's total assessment of $68,963. The subject's improvement assessment is $61,089 or $8.68 per square foot of living area. In support of the assessment the board submitted property characteristic printouts and descriptive data on four properties suggested as comparable to the subject. The four suggested comparables are improved with three-story, multi-family dwellings of masonry construction with the same neighborhood code as the subject. The improvements range in size from 6,003 to 6,771 square feet of living area and in age from 82 to 103 years old. The comparables contain six full bathrooms as well as a full-finished or unfinished basement. The improvement assessments range from $8.68 to $9.33 per square foot of living area.

At hearing, the board's representative indicated that the board of review would rest on the written evidence submissions. Based on the evidence presented, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After hearing the testimony and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review V. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

Regarding the inequity claim, the Board finds the board of review's comparables one, three and four to be the most similar properties to the subject in the record. These three properties are similar to the subject in improvement size, amenities, age, design and location and have improvement assessments ranging from $8.68 to $9.33 per square foot of living area. The subject's per square foot improvement assessment of $8.68 falls within the range established by these properties. The Board finds the five remaining comparables less similar to the subject in size, amenities, location and/or exterior construction and accorded less weight. After considering adjustments and the differences in both parties' suggested comparables when compared to the subject, the Board finds the subject's per square foot improvement assessment is supported by the most similar properties contained in the record.

When overvaluation is claimed the appellant has the burden of proving the value of the property by a preponderance of the evidence. National City Bank of Michigan/Illinois v. Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board, 331 Ill.App.3d 1038 (3rd Dist, 2002); Winnebago County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 313 Ill.App.3d 179 (2nd Dist. 2000). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal, a recent arms-length sale of the subject property, recent sales of comparable properties, or recent construction costs of the subject property. 86 Ill.AdM.Code §1910.65(c). Having considered the evidence, the Board finds the appellant has not satisfied this burden and a reduction is not warranted.

The Board finds the appellant's argument that the subject's assessment is excessive when applying an income approach based on the subject's actual income and expenses unconvincing and not supported by evidence in the record. In Springfield Marine Bank v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 44 Ill.2d 428 (1970), the court stated:

It is the value of the "tract or lot of real property" property which is assessed, rather than the value of the interest presently held. . . [R]ental income may of course be a relevant factor. However, it cannot be the controlling factor, particularly where it is admittedly misleading as to the fair cash value of the property involved. . . [E]arning capacity is properly regarded as the most significant element in arriving at "fair cash value". . . Many factors may prevent a property owner from realizing an income from property, which accurately reflects its true earning capacity; but it is the capacity for earning income, rather than the income actually derived, which reflects "fair cash value" for taxation purposes." Springfield Marine Bank v. Property Tax Appeal Board 44 Ill.2d 428 at 430-431.

Actual expenses and income can be useful when shown that they are reflective of the market. The appellant did not demonstrate that the subject's actual income and expenses were reflective of the market. To demonstrate or estimate the subject's market value using an income approach, as the appellant attempted, one must establish through the use of market data the market rent, vacancy and collection losses, and expenses to arrive at a net operating income. Further, the appellant must establish through the use of market data a capitalization rate to convert the net income into an estimate of market value. The appellant failed to follow this procedure in developing the income approach to value; therefore, the Property Tax Appeal Board gives this argument no weight.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellant has failed to adequately demonstrate that the subject property was inequitably assessed or overvalued and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
